NEW PARLIAMENT SCHEDULED TO SIT IN MONTH'S TIME

Proclamation of Dissolution Read Yesterday at Westminster—Speech From Throne Refers To Grave Concern Over Italo-Ethiopian Dispute and Building Up of Air Strength

LONDON, Oct. 25 (P).—The Royal Proclamation dissolving Parliament and summoning a new Parliament into session on November 26 was published tonight while headquarters of all parties drove ahead with plans for candidates and campaign speeches.

The dissolution of Parliament followed the reading of the Speech from the Throne to the two Houses in joint session by the Lord Chancellor, Lord Halsbury. The speech expressed the "gravest concern" over the Italo-Ethiopian dispute. His Majesty approved the proclamation at a specially-convened meeting of the Privy Council in Buckingham Palace. It lasted only ten minutes. The proclamation was published as a supplement to The London Gazette.

OPENS FIRE IN CAMPAIGN

Prime Minister Baldwin Emphasizes Need for Hastening Air Defence

CHEQUERS, England, Oct. 25 (CP-AP).—Prime Minister Baldwin opened the campaign for re-election of the National Government with a broadcast speech tonight. Discussing the League of Nations' efforts to halt the Italo-Ethiopian war and the fact that the United States, Germany and Japan are outside the League, Mr. Baldwin said:

RISKS TO PEACE

"There are risks to peace. You may ask what risks. I reply, risks in the kind of sanctions imposed. If sanctions are imposed, that will lead inevitably to a blockade, and a blockade brings in the question of countries outside the League."

"And that was what I had in mind when I said I would never sanction this country going into a blockade unless we were assured beforehand of the attitude of the United States."

Pointing to what he said was the need for increased national defences, Mr. Baldwin said:

"Whatever may happen in the future with regard to a blockade, the brunt of any trouble that may result must fall in the beginning on the British Navy—in conjunction with others if we are fortunate; possibly alone if we are not."

"I have always stood for peace and always shall—peace abroad and peace at home; peace not uniformly."

FINAL COUNT IN NANAIMO RIDING

Alan Chambers, Liberal Candidate, Places Second in Figure Revised By Returning Officer

Alan Chambers, Liberal candidate in the Nanaimo federal riding, moved up to second place following an official count of ballots by W. Dwyer, returning officer, yesterday. Mr. Chambers was, according to the revised figures, only 293 votes behind J. S. Taylor, C.C.F. candidate elected. In the unofficial returns on election day, Mr. Chambers was placed third.

The following revised count shows the standing of the four candidates: J. S. Taylor (C.C.F.), 7,003; Alan Chambers (Liberal), 6,710; C. H. Dickie (Conservative), 6,420; and Aubrey M. Clark (Reconstruction), 544. There were 151 rejected ballots and the absentee vote has still to be counted. There are approximately 111 absentee votes, Mr. Dwyer said.

WOULD ABOLISH UPPER CHAMBER

British Labor Party Issues Election Appeal—Wants Collective Security

LONDON, Oct. 25 (P).—Great Britain's labor party, in a manifesto containing a scathing attack on the National Government, announced tonight it will try to abolish the House of Lords if it wins the general election on November 14.

The party accused the Government of starting an arms race, and while it is paying lip service to the League of Nations, it is planning a vast and expensive rearmament programme which will only stimulate similar programmes elsewhere.

The party charged that the nation had "four barren years" under the National Government.

NOTHING CONSTRUCTIVE

"Whilst doles of varying kinds have been dispensed on a lavish scale to industry after industry, not a single constructive step has been taken to improve the lot of the people," the statement said.

The manifesto said the Labor party is for necessary defences and consistent membership in the League, but seeks better organization of collective security against an aggressor and a reduction of the armaments of all countries.

OTHER PROPOSALS

If given a mandate by the people, the manifesto continued, Labor will propose to other nations "complete abolition of all national air forces, effective international control of civil aviation, creation of an international police force, large reductions by international agreement in naval and military forces and abolition of private manufacture and trade in arms."

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Oct. 25 (P).—The Government announced tonight that a hurricane caused widespread damage to banana plantations in the vicinity of Cape Gracias today, but had veered sharply from its expected course in the afternoon, sparing Puerto Cabezas.

No deaths were reported, but officials stated the winds, reaching a velocity of ninety miles an hour, destroyed thatched huts in the village of Cape Gracias and caused serious damage to banana plantations.

G. G. McGeer Leading By Six With Absentee Votes to Be Counted

Recheck in Vancouver-Burrard Gives Liberal Candidate Small Majority Over Arnold Webster, C.C.F.—Final Result Awaits Counting Of About 150 Ballots—Some Not In Yet

VANCOUVER, Oct. 25 (P).—With absentee votes still uncounted, G. G. McGeer, Liberal, has a majority of six votes over Arnold Webster, C.C.F., it was shown today by a recheck of ballot totals in Vancouver-Burrard.

The final count on election night showed Mr. Webster elected by a majority of 90. R. G. Phipps, returning officer, stated at the time, however, that on account of the margin for error in the taking down of telephoned figures and the closeness of the vote, that the correct story of the election lay sealed in the ballot boxes.

Supporters of Mr. McGeer who is mayor of Vancouver, stated that figures supplied by their scrutineers showed that their candidate had a small majority.

Counting of the absentee ballots will start tomorrow.

The ballot boxes were opened today by Mr. Phipps and the figures of the polling officer rechecked. He announced the results this evening as follows:

A. J. McDonald, Conservative, 5,284.
G. G. McGeer, Liberal, 10,191.
Arnold Webster, C.C.F., 10,185.
Dr. H. W. Turnbull, Reconstruction, 1,855.
W. A. Tuttle, Social Credit, 533.

It is presumed that after the absentee vote is counted the candidate will start tomorrow.

Counting of the absentee ballots will start tomorrow.

When Mr. Willis soared away to a comfortable lead as counting of votes progressed on election night, his election was conceded. When all ballots were in, the official result showed Mr. Willis elected by a majority of one vote.

When the official count was made today, Returning Officer James McDole officially declared MacDonald elected. The final figures for the four candidates were: Willis (C.), 4,506; MacDonald (L.), 4,511; Parks (C.C.F.), 954; Clendenning (R.), 635.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA FOREST FIRE RAGING OVER WIDE FRONT

Two Thousand Men Battling Flames in Malibu Hills—Fire and Wind Loss Estimated at $10,000,000 as Conflagration Spreads Endangering Lives and Valuables

Four Missing Men Feared Trapped Between Canyons

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25 (AP).—Sucking up through the canyons, the huge forest conflagration in the Malibu area thirty-five miles northwest of here spread out on a new five-mile front at the crest of the Malibu Hills tonight, menacing the Malibu Lake resort country. More than 2,000 men were fighting the flames.

This fire is the worst of several, with winds causing widespread crop damage, have caused losses totaling about $10,000,000 in Southern California within the past few days.

Dirk Van Tol, superintendent of the Malibu ranch, estimated today that there has been a loss of $3,000,000 in property and watershed damage in the Malibu area alone.

The flames reached within a mile of Saddle Rock Lodge, which was evacuated earlier today, two miles of Malibu Lake. Tonight Sheriff Eugene Bleasdale sent deputies from the springs to warn residents of the lake area to be ready to abandon their homes, if necessary.

FOUR MEN ARE MISSING
Four members of a county fire department pumping crew were unaccounted for tonight. Their crew and another departed from the Malibu Civilian Conservation Corps camp this morning for Saddle Rock Lodge. The other crew returned this morning and expressed fear the missing men may have been trapped between Lobo and Sierra Canyons.

Sir Guy Standing, English motion picture actor, rushed today to his $50,000 home near Malibu Lake and with the aid of his valet started backfiring in efforts to protect his place. He has several thousands of dollars worth of antiques and art objects there. He kept three automobiles.

(Overnight, 1935, by Havas News Agency)
ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 25 (CP-Havas).—The Government tonight admitted in an official bulletin that Italian troops, under cover of air-plane bombardment, had captured two fortified Ethiopian towns on the southeast front.

It said further an Ethiopian garrison had abandoned Gallafo in the same sector, to the Blackshirt advance. Four Italian planes flew over Gorranel, proposed concentration point on the Fafan River, and then veered to Keldidhari, a nearby settlement, where they set a number of homes afire with their bombs, the bulletin added.

PRINCE RUPERT HAS NO WATER

Floods Cut Off City's Supply—Hazelton Is Threatened by Rising River

PRINCE RUPERT, Oct. 25 (P).—Prince Rupert was without water today as continuing torrential rains crippled both the city main and the emergency water line.

Part of the city main was washed out at Shewan Lake, near here, and the water supply was completely cut off when the emergency line was similarly damaged.

The city continued isolated from the rest of the province by rail and road and the only communication outlet was through wireless.

RIVER RISES RAPIDLY
The Skeena River, swollen by the heavy rains of the past two days, rose from fifteen to twenty feet in twelve hours and is threatening the lower part of Hazelton if a further rise is recorded.

Canadian National Railways service is completely paralyzed by wash-outs on the Kayex River and along the Lower Skeena and is not expected to be resumed for several days.

In addition to the Kayex River Bridge, the bridge across the Copper River, above Terrace, B.C., has also been washed out, as well as several smaller bridges in the district.

Baby Unhurt After Carried Into Woods On Antlers of Deer

Wild Animal Strays Into Garden and Tries to Make Friends—Runs Away With Horns Caught in Child's Clothing

HARRISON MILLS, B.C., Oct. 25 (P).—Stanley Hubert, thirteen-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hubert, had a wild ride today on the antlers of a frightened deer, but escaped being carried into the wilderness when he was caught gaily way.

Hubert to the door in time to see her baby being carried off at top speed, swinging on the deer's antlers and heading for Steelhead Creek, 100 yards away. Her screams brought neighbors to the scene and they followed the animal's tracks to where the creek is spanned by a single log thirty feet long and ten feet above the shallow water.

DASHED ACROSS LOG
The deer had evidently dashed wildly across the log. The amazed searchers scanned the stream for signs of the child, and a lusty cry from among nearby trees drew their attention. Stanley was discovered among the trees, uninjured. The venturesome deer had vanished.

WINS EMPIRE CHAMPIONSHIP

Okanagan Grower Awarded Premier Honors for Apples At Imperial Show

OTTAWA, Oct. 25 (P).—For the first time since 1929 a Canadian today won the highest award in the desert apple class at the fifteenth Imperial Fruit Show, at Cardiff, Wales, returning to the Dominion what is considered the blue ribbon of the world's greatest fruit exhibition.

The first prize, cable advised said, went to James Lowe, of Oyanma, B.C., whose exhibit of "Delicious" won him the show's major honor and $800 in cash.

For the first few years after inauguration of the Imperial Fruit Show, which brings entries from all parts of the British Commonwealth, Canadians carried away most of the leading awards. Since 1929, however, British growers have won the most coveted prizes in the open classes, beating Canadians by narrow margins.

IS KEEN EXHIBITOR
VERNON, Oct. 25 (P).—James Lowe is the owner of a fourteen-acre fruit ranch at Oyanma, south of this city. Mr. Lowe came to Oyanma from Fort William, Ont., thirteen years ago, and for years has taken a keen interest in competitive displays, concentrating on the annual Imperial Fruit Show. He won the Agent-General's Cup in 1933, but this was taken from him the following year, and Mr. Lowe determined to enter the 1935 competition with a winning display.

Kitsap Prosecutor R. W. Miller filed a first degree murder charge at Port Orchard, Kitsap County seat, accusing Hall with hammering to death Eugene Chenerey, one of the six persons who were slain.

Congress Told of Growth of Various Uses of Wood Products—Methods of Logging Defended Against Criticism of Waste

VANCOUVER, Oct. 25 (P)—Technological research may be counted upon to assure the future of the forest industries of North America indefinitely and make them even more useful and prosperous than in the past, Carlisle P. Winslow, director of the United States Forest Products Laboratory at Madison, Wis., today told the Pacific Logging Congress in convention here.

Mr. Winslow spoke of steadily increasing demand for newsprint made from wood, of the growth of rayon manufacture, 75 per cent of which is made from wood cellulose, and of the probable use of ethyl alcohol from wood as a substitute for gasoline as motive power when declining supplies of petroleum raise the price of gasoline.

CONSTANT IMPROVEMENT
He reported constant improvement in methods of using wood for construction of all kinds, especially in the use of heavy spans and trusses fabricated from small pieces of wood glued together, which he said are proving even stronger than solid beams.

Chemical seasoning is improving woods of all kinds and veneers are being improved so that they can cover cheaper, but more satisfactory, woods than are now used and thus create a demand for much wood that is regarded as useless.

WESTERN WORLD LOOKS TO EAST

Rev Dr. W. J. Sipprell Addresses Y.W.C.A. Current Events Group

The menace of an awakened China, 400,000,000 strong, "roused from slumber and dominating the Far East," was pictured as the alternative of the wiser plan of "peace and practical consideration by the leading world powers" of trade and commerce relations in the Orient, in a talk given by Rev. Dr. W. J. Sipprell before the Y.W.C.A. current events group yesterday afternoon.

CHIEF DRAWBACKS
Discussion showed the chief drawbacks to selective logging in Douglas fir are windfall, brought about through thinning stands where tree selection is practiced, and fire hazard, incidental to the accumulation of debris which cannot be burned owing to the damage that remaining growth would suffer.

Operators from British Columbia and the United States approached the matter from different angles, but all concurred that clear cutting of picked areas is the only feasible selective method in the fir belt as slash can be burned after logging.

INDUSTRY PUT FIRST
"I might paraphrase the old story of the expert who wishes his conscience to be your guide," he said. "We must not let the idea of protecting the timber sidetrack us from the need of protecting the industry."

E. B. McDaniel, of Portland, Ore., supported Mr. Cowan's views. "Only in exceptional cases can logged land be cleared of slash without using fire," he said. "Any other way is as costly as to be altogether prohibitive."

T. M. Munger, director of the Pacific Northwest Forest Experiment Station, declared high grading, which consists of picking certain trees from a stand, is definitely harmful.

R. M. Brown, of the Forest Products Laboratories of Canada, cited Northern Vancouver Island as an example of varied topography and species, where no one method could be employed.

"Fire protection must be developed until our timber lands are insurable resources," he declared.

ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 25.—Emperor Haile Selassie tonight spurned any peace that does not include an adequate indemnity for his empire, return of the lost cities of Axum and Aduwa and the banishment of every Italian soldier from the land.

With peace talk rife throughout the country, it was emphasized the Negus has received no suggestions whatever for settlement of the war, either officially or unofficially.

Selassie, at long last, persuaded Italy's minister to Ethiopia to agree to leave the country—a task that has taken two weeks to accomplish.

The ebullient Count Luigi Vinciguerra was given his passport fifteen days ago and asked to leave within forty-eight hours. But he refused to go until two Italian commercial agents arrived from Magalio to depart with him. The agents have reached here, so the minister will leave tomorrow.

SANCTIONS GO ON
LONDON, Oct. 25 (P)—Prediction that League sanctions against Italy "absolutely will go on" came from authoritative quarters tonight.

Recurring and unconfirmed reports of Premier Mussolini's "peace soundings" to Premier Laval, of France, met a cool reception. Officials stood on their statements that any suggestions for peace must be satisfactory to both the League of Nations and Ethiopia. And well-informed persons said no such suggestions yet had come from Il Duce.

"There was no indication that Britain is ready to make any Mediterranean fleet reduction despite Il Duce's conciliatory gesture in withdrawing a division of his troops from Libya."

IS COMMITTED FOR TRIAL AT ASSIZE COURT

Francis R. Findlay Goes to Higher Tribunal on Manslaughter Charge

EVIDENCE IN FATAL AUTO CRASH HEARD

Francis R. Findlay was committed for trial by Magistrate Jay in city police court yesterday following his preliminary hearing on a charge of manslaughter arising out of the death of W. Y. McCarter and his wife, victims of an automobile accident at the intersection of Hillside Avenue and Blackwood Street on Sunday, September 29.

The accused was represented by Harold A. Beckwith and C. L. Harrison conducted the case for the prosecution. Mr. Harrison, in his summing up, alleged that the accused's automobile struck one driven by E. W. Bird, 2623 Dysart Avenue. In Mr. Bird's car were Mr. and Mrs. McCarter, Mrs. Bird and her three young daughters.

DETAILS ACCIDENT
In his evidence, Mr. Bird testified he was proceeding north on Blackwood Street and, approaching Hillside, he looked in all directions but did not see any car in sight. Moving into the intersection an automobile, traveling at a fast speed, appeared on Hillside. Mr. Bird stated he thought he had sufficient time to clear the intersection, but when half way across his automobile was struck by the Findlay car.

Mr. Beckwith confined his cross-examination of the witness to the fact that the Findlay car was suddenly into view and before his car could get across the intersection it was struck. He remembered nothing after the crash until he found himself on his hands and knees on the road.

AUTO OVERTURNED
Further in his testimony Mr. Bird said the Findlay automobile came suddenly into view and before his car could get across the intersection it was struck. He remembered nothing after the crash until he found himself on his hands and knees on the road.

ROUYN THREATENED By Damaging Fire
ROUYN, Que., Oct. 25 (P)—Fire that for a time threatened the entire business section of Rouyn, swept through Rice's departmental store, destroying all merchandise and adjoining living quarters, with an estimated loss of $75,000.

The flames, breaking out last night, disrupted electric power service, and the towns of Rouyn and Noranda were thrown into darkness.

NEW PARLIAMENT TO SIT IN MONTH
The speech said the Government would continue "to promote limitation and reduction by international agreement of all forms of armaments," but it continued:

IMPOSSIBLE TO POSTPONE
"It has been found impossible to postpone further expansion of the Royal Air Force to a strength which will enable it to fulfill its duties in national and imperial defence, and the programme necessary to give effect to this has now been undertaken."

Reviewing domestic legislation, the speech said Parliament had accomplished removal of most of the special taxes imposed four years ago, appointed commissioners for the distressed areas of England, Scotland and Wales to help plan relief work, passed unemployment relief legislation and made provision for improvement of airports, postal, telegraph and telephone communications and improvement in housing laws.

VIEW OBSCURED
Mr. Bird also testified concerning a birth of bloom at the intersection and said it interfered with the view of Hillside when approaching the crossing. He also testified that he was clear of the curb line of Hillside when he saw the other car approach and thought he had sufficient time to make the crossing in safety.

He said he did not use his brakes when he saw the Findlay car because he was sure, if he had checked his car's speed, he would have been struck.

Dr. Gordon C. Kenning testified to the fact that Mrs. McCarter died on the stretcher as she was being taken into the Royal Jubilee Hospital. Mr. McCarter died the following day. The former had a fractured skull, fractured thigh and several ribs broken and other injuries. Mr. McCarter had ribs fractured and internal injuries.

SAW ACCIDENT
Mrs. Irene A. MacPherson, 1251 Montrose Avenue, testified she was at the corner of Blackwood and Hillside waiting for a street car, and saw the accident. She said she saw an automobile going at a faster rate than was usual. She stepped back out of the way of the automobile as it passed. She saw the collision. The car driven by Mr. Bird was just across the street and the occupants were thrown out.

Witness said she went to the scene and picked up one of the little girls.

To Mr. Beckwith witness said the Bird car was just across the street when it was hit. Mrs. MacPherson said that just after the car of the accused passed her he appeared to be patting on the brakes.

H. I. Curtis was driving along Hillside Avenue the day of the accident, he testified, and was passing by a car as he was approaching Higgins Street crossing. The car that passed him was going at a fast pace. Shortly afterwards the collision occurred.

Archie Gillies, aged fourteen, and his brother Jack, aged twelve, testified to having seen the accident. They live near by. Archie said he heard brakes applied and, looking that way, saw the collision. One car turned over and bounced across the sidewalk, turning over as it did so. He ran over and helped to get the people out of the overturned car.

Jack Gillies corroborated the evidence of his brother. To Mr. Beckwith he said that he heard the screech of brakes and screams and at the same time the crashing of cars.

Detective H. F. Jarvis produced photographs taken by him at the scene. Cyril Jones, of the city engineer's department, produced plans of the location, which were used in the taking of the evidence.

Constable R. P. Lanning recalled the scene of the accident at 12:40 p.m. He testified to conditions and his part in adding the injured. The automobiles were both taken under the charge of the police and brought to the police station and held.

Comptroller Now Drafting Budget For City Council

D. A. Macdonald, city comptroller and treasurer, is now engaged in preparing the preliminary draft of the 1936 civic budget, which he expects to place before the council at its second meeting in November.

At present Mr. Macdonald is working out the city's debt charges for 1936. It is expected they will be lighter than this year owing to the fact that some $340,000 debentures were retired this year.

his brother Jack, aged twelve, testified to having seen the accident. They live near by. Archie said he heard brakes applied and, looking that way, saw the collision. One car turned over and bounced across the sidewalk, turning over as it did so. He ran over and helped to get the people out of the overturned car.

Jack Gillies corroborated the evidence of his brother. To Mr. Beckwith he said that he heard the screech of brakes and screams and at the same time the crashing of cars.

The cars were examined by the magistrate before the hearing was concluded. Mr. Findlay reserved his evidence.

MANY HOMES IN DANGER
About 250 cabins and homes are situated in the Malibu Lake section. Approximately seventy-five cabins and larger places have been destroyed in the Malibu hills fire, which has been almost under control at least twice.

The fire area extends from the Los Angeles-Ventura County line eighteen miles down the coast near the northern tip of the Malibu Beach movie colony and from five to eight miles inland. A serious threat to the colony was overcome early today and the flames later retired inland.

M'GEER HAS LEAD; COUNT INCOMPLETE

shown behind in the vote will ask for a recount of all ballots.

MOST EXCITING BATTLE
The Vancouver-Burrard battle

was the most exciting of the October 14 general election in this Province. Webster took an early lead in the count, McGeer overtook him and gained a lead on which he was practically conceded election until Webster overtook him in the late few polls reporting. The count was checked, rechecked and checked again from the telephone figures, with the final count of election night giving Webster a majority.

Absentee votes will probably number about 150.

The count may not be completed for some time. A number of votes from distant points, including some from Atlin in the north of the Province, have not been received, and no count has been wired in.

The returning officer may, if he thinks fit, postpone completion of the count for as much as two weeks.

In event of a recount in Vancouver-Burrard, there are 259 rejected ballots which would require the reconsideration of the presiding judge.

Two small boys were walking in the woods, seeking for adventure and what they might find. One picked up a chestnut burr.

"Tommy," he called excitedly, "come here quick. I've found a porcupine egg!"

CHURCH HEAD SPEAKS HERE

Moderator of Presbyterian Church Gives Address At St. Andrew's

"The curse of Europe today is the concentration of power in high places—in single personalities. If ever there was a time in the history of the world when there was a need to fight the onslaught of paganism and those who have sold their souls to the god of materialism, it is now," declared Rev. Donald T. L. McKerrill, D.D., moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, in a public address at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church here last night. Dr. McKerrill reminded the congregation that the Presbyterian Church was created "in resentment of the power concentrated in high places" and was the only church of "democracy, liberty, freedom and equity." He feared, he said, that Presbyterians in Canada had developed an inferiority complex because of cross-currents and other disturbing influences to the church since it stood out from the union.

GREAT ORGANIZATION
"There is no need," he said, "for the Presbyterians to fear anything. The Presbyterian Church is the greatest Protestant denomination in the world. It has 125,000,000 mem-

ACCIDENTAL IS JURY VERDICT

Late William Blakey Disappeared From Home Several Hours Before Tragedy

Verdict of accidental death, without blame attaching to anyone, was brought in by a coroner's jury sitting yesterday morning in the inquest into the death of William Blakey, Coroner Dr. E. C. Hart presided.

Albert Blakey, a son, testified his father had been seventy-five years of age and resident at 1479 Port Street. In good physical health, but suffering from loss of memory, it had been Mr. Blakey's habit to take a short walk about the immediate vicinity of his Port Street home each evening before retiring. On Monday, October 21, Mr. Blakey, Sr., had gone for his walk about 8 p.m., but had not returned. An immediate but unavailing search was instituted.

Thomas Campbell testified that as a passenger on street car No. 385 leaving Esquimalt terminus at the other end of the city shortly before 11:30 p.m., Monday, he had felt the car touched slightly near the top of Signal Hill, eastbound. The motorman had stopped, and found William Blakey on the road in a dying condition. The street car had been moving very slowly up grade at the time.

FOUND INJURED MAN

Henry Hall, motorman, testified that near the top of Signal Hill the life guard in front of the tram had been tripped. He had readjusted the guard, stopped the car, and went back to see what had happened to trip the catcher. He found Mr. Blakey, Sr., lying unconscious near the track with his head on the ties outside the rails. The right hand was thrust in the trousers pockets, and the left hand folded across the chest inside a suit coat. Eyeglasses lay at some distance to one side, and a hat like distance in the other direction. The headlight of the tram had revealed nothing in passing of a free object. Part of the road between distant street lights. There had been no marks on the street car. The motorman had summoned the police.

WAS ALIVE THEN

Constable Gilbert Stanton told of examining Mr. Blakey at 11:25 p.m., where he lay, alive but unconscious, and with a feeble pulse, seven feet in rear of the standing street car. He called a physician, but Mr. Blakey died before the doctor could arrive.

Dr. J. S. McCallum testified he arrived at the scene at 11:30 p.m., and found William Blakey dead from the effects of a three-inch bruise on the left side of the head. Lacerations also showed on the left hand.

Inspector Arthur Chesworth testified it was the practice of Esquimalt street cars to go very slowly up Signal Hill, eastbound, due to a steep grade and a curve at the top. The jury, under Thomas Bronson, foreman, returned a verdict of accidental death. Chief H. W. V. Pecknold marshaled the evidence.

Police said no one was injured, the only damage inflicted being broken windows of several cars. The strikers waited until the new union members concluded their meeting and left the hall. The three men arrested are being held for investigation.

OLD NEWSPAPERS MAY BE STOPPED

Lucrative Trade Threatened by Bill Now Being Considered by Government of Canton

Exports of old and over-issued newspapers from America to China may be severely curtailed if a bill under consideration by the Canton Government to forbid such imports into South China becomes effective.

The extent of the trade in old and over-issued newspapers is disclosed by the fact that in the city of Canton alone, over $1,000,000 worth of such newspapers was imported during 1934. The great bulk of these imports originates in the United States.

The newspapers are used in China chiefly for wrapping purposes, by small merchants and retailers. Native paper manufacturers, whose business has been adversely affected as a result of the increasing importation of foreign newspapers, succeeded last year in having the Government prohibit the use of this paper for wrapping fresh foodstuffs.

The local paper manufacturing industry maintains that the prohibition against imports of old over-issued newspapers will prove an important aid in stimulating domestic paper production.

FINANCE IS THE ISSUE

The forthcoming conference between the Provincial Premiers and the Dominion Government may or may not lead to recommendations for amendments to the British North America Act. Mr. Mackenzie King, in his pre-election campaign utterances, spoke frequently of the fact that because of Liberal Governments established in all but one of the provinces it would be possible to have friendly discussion and co-operation with Ottawa. Moreover, he said that on this account constitutional divisions and limitations of legislative authority could be overcome without amending the British North America Act. The conference is to be held next month. The most serious matter for discussion is the heavy liability assumed by the Dominion on behalf of the Western Provinces and the extent to which it is to continue to act the role of their fairy godmother.

The Dominion Government has been bearing its share of unemployment relief through the years. It has, in addition, loaned large sums of money to the Western Provinces to enable them to meet maturing loans, as well as financing them for the purpose of unemployment relief. The total outstanding loans by the Federal Government to those provinces on March 31, 1935, were as follows: Manitoba, $13,108,630; Saskatchewan, $34,123,151; Alberta, $11,977,000; British Columbia, $15,014,234; total, $74,223,015.

The foregoing figures are taken from the Canada Year Book published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Since their publication other loans have been made to the provinces in question by the Dominion Government, including a sum of $2,250,000 to the Alberta Government of Alberta to tide over that province until the end of the present month and the guarantee of treasury bills of Manitoba and British Columbia to the tune of $6,721,000. Out of this situation it is axiomatic that the question will be brought up at the forthcoming conference at Ottawa as to what extent in the future the Dominion is to continue to carry the provinces on its back. Arising out of this issue, too, will be the necessity of something in the nature of Federal jurisdiction over provincial financing and expenditures. That consideration will involve a review of the areas of taxation as between the Dominion and the provinces. In this respect, duplication of taxation by the two authorities should be eliminated once and for all.

There is no question more important at a Dominion-Provincial conference than that of reaching a decision whereby the goal to be sought will be balanced budgets all round. This is a matter that supersedes in interest, in the eyes of the taxpayers, all proposals for amendments to the British North America Act. Public opinion is a unit in the desire for elimination of over-government, which has meant a continual creeping up of taxation. Thus, in the forefront of the discussions at Ottawa, the prime consideration should be the putting into effect of economy all round. The over-government in this Dominion is a reflection on the intelligence of the people governed, and it has its most resounding commentary in the fact that in a period of some four years the four Western Provinces, because of their spendthrift zeal, have had to borrow upwards of $80,000,000 from the Federal Government in order to enable them to continue to function.

THE NON-VOTER

For several months preceding the recent elections the newspapers devoted a great amount of their valuable space to political news, speeches on the issues of the day, editorial comment thereupon, and many letters in the correspondence columns. During that period the radio was largely taken up with political addresses from public men of national as well as of local prominence. Moreover, there were broadcasts of the proceedings of public meetings with appeals from candidates, punctuated with retorts from heckling interrupters. The doctrines and programmes of the two historic parties were discussed at length, and by way of full measure there were added for the consideration of the electors an extensive assortment of new-fangled "causes," movements, ingenious theories, social and economic fancies and fads conceived in the brains and advocated at much length by the tongues of eager candidates for public favor. Party managers exerted themselves to perfect their organization of campaign workers. Phrase-makers invented slogans and these were displayed in great advertising posters.

Moreover, the long-continued business depression had predisposed the minds of many to lay all the blame therefor upon the Government. It was commonly said that now, if ever, was the time for the voter to assert himself and bring his will to bear actively upon public affairs. To lay outward appearance, indeed, the stage was set for an election contest in which every voter would take part unless physically unable. Now, if ever, the politically weather-wise might reasonably look forward to a record-breaking snowstorm of ballots. Nevertheless, the actual figures indicate that not more than six out of every ten qualified voters in the electoral riding of Victoria went to the polls, and the proportion for the whole province was probably even less.

No doubt, age and infirmity, illness, distance from the polling place, and absence from home keep quite a number of electors from voting. No doubt there are some women in later middle life who do not approve of female franchise and abstain from voting; but they are not very numerous. There are qualified electors who regard political arguments and appeals to reason and sentiment as simply so much pretence and who look upon elections as mere contests between the "ins" and the "outs" in which no real principle is involved. The only issue, they think, is the interest of the candidates who simply desire to hold power and enjoy the spoils of office.

That this opinion is held by a certain number of people will hardly be denied, and, although it is not difficult to show that the opinion is fundamentally unsound, the fact remains that some decline to do so on these grounds, and thus hold themselves aloof, in a rather pharisaical spirit, from their fellow men. The rough-and-ready reply to those who are possessed of this spirit, which is really a spirit of defeatism and despair, is that politicians and parties are human and, therefore, imperfect, but that all men of good will should endeavor to choose between the better and the worse, for the more effective working of our political institutions.

The above mentioned classes form but a comparatively small fraction of the stay-at-homes. It is probable that the great bulk of the non-voters abstain from active participation in the elections from no spirit of mere aloofness, but in accordance with a strongly individualistic and conservative theory of life. They place a far higher value upon the concrete blessings of individual liberty under the protection of law than upon the abstract theories professed by the government of the day. They are indifferent to the political complexion of the administration as long as freedom and the legal rights of the individual are respected. The limit to this indifference must be reached if any suspicion arose that personal liberty or property rights were in danger.

Clearly the great majority of the non-voters are of a conservative cast of mind and can be depended on to rally to the side of liberty and order whenever these blessings are really threatened by the forces of radicalism. This numerous body of citizens forms a natural reserve of conservative voting strength. The reorganization of the Conservative Party in this province should not be delayed unduly. When that reorganization is undertaken the great recruiting ground above described should be thoroughly explored.

SOCIAL CREDIT

Much of the glamor which the doctrine of Social Credit has infused in the hearts of the two imaginative disciples of economic theory is gone by the realization that Premier Aberhart of Alberta has intimated his scheme is only possible by a levy or tax that will have to be imposed on all producers and distributors. In other words, the "national dividend" must be paid out of someone's pocket. It is not a gift from the gods. It is not "something for nothing." If the producers and distributors pay it, then it is the people as a whole who will be the consumers and every individual who is to benefit—and they will pay in proportion to the benefits they secure.

The Social Credit dividend, as everyone who exercises any common sense has always been aware, cannot be conjured up out of the void. It is an illusion, for it can only be engineered by taking away from the people and then giving back to them what they had before. Even Mr. Aberhart has lost his enthusiasm. He keeps on postponing the day when Social Credit will go into effect. He still keeps up the myth that it is possible, but now that he is in power and his enthusiasms are toned down by the responsibilities of office and the knowledge of what can and what cannot be done he is rapidly reaching the conclusion that it is impossible to fool the people all the time. He may well become known in provincial history as the Premier who promised "jam tomorrow and jam yesterday—but never jam today."

ALL MEN ARE PIONEERS

All men are pioneers inside their hearts. They are forever seeking wilderness. Behind strong teams they ride in hooded carts, Avid for life, and masteries. They would take their women west or north. They would invade a country as fertile with peril. They would eternally be riding forth. Out of the cities they have found so sterile. In their hearts they are forever cutting clover. They are forever drawing water from a well. In their dreams they are observing over and over. The ground they would clear, the forests they would fell. They are dreaming of lands uncivilized that sprawl. Unfound, or unimagined, or forgot. Knowing they will not leave the town at all, As like as not.

Note and Comment

By R. H. D.

There is a tide in the affairs of men, Which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune; Omitted, all the voyage of their life Is bound in shallows and in miseries. —Shakespeare.

Thanksgiving Day is an American holiday, or holy day, or feast day, which has been adopted in Canada. The simple original settlers in the New England States were not epicurean in their appetites or luxurious in their habits. If they had enough to eat for the present and sufficient stores for the future, they believed they had reason to be thankful to the bountiful giver of all good things. So they held thanksgiving services in the meeting-houses in the morning, shot a wild turkey or killed a tame turkey in the afternoon, and held a feast of thanksgiving in the evening—that is, if they did not partake of a midday dinner—but the process is not a matter of importance. Thanksgiving Day was established and ultimately became a national institution.

In process of time the original significance of Thanksgiving Day was lost. It is no longer a holy day. It is a holiday or a feast day, like some other days which no longer have a religious significance in all parts of this continent except in the province of Quebec. In Canada some fuss has been made about the Thanksgiving Day of the year 1935. The date of our annual feast is not fixed. It is movable. This year it was considered expedient to move it back a week or two. That change was believed necessary because of some uncertainty about the date of a general election, which also could be moved, but not very far. The date of the day of national thanksgiving appears to have been well chosen after all the criticisms.

There may have been years in the history of Canada when the masses of the people had more to be thankful for than during the present year, but it just happened that the date of our annual thanksgiving coincided with the resignation of the Bennett Government and the installation of the King Government. Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett had abundant reason to be thankful that his political troubles were over, and Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King had attained the summit of his political ambition and again was "cock of the walk," in the manner of speaking of a cartoon in The Winnipeg Free Press. The future of the country will determine which of the two honorable gentlemen has the greater reason for thanksgiving.

The new Prime Minister has suffered and surmounted the first of his troubles. He has chosen his cabinet. Many applicants felt that they should be called; but only a few could be chosen. Political commentators, in the main, are agreed that those selected have been wisely chosen; but some critics who may be captious declare that a government, like a chain, is only as strong as its weakest link and that something depends upon the strength of the head. There is never a lack of cabinet material in Canada, and it is a simple matter to construct a cabinet. Those who are taken will be more than thankful. Those who were left, such as Mr. Mitchell Hepburn, for instance, will be resentful, and possibly a source of trouble and worry.

Other provincial Premiers may be thankful that all their troubles are over with the advent of a Prime Minister and a Government in power entirely in sympathy with their position and ready to extend to them a benevolent helping hand. The tides to Ottawa which were so numerous during this year and last are about to be resumed. The provincial Premiers will head the procession, and unless there should be the miracle Mr. King predicted, the banishment of penury and privation from the land, other processions will follow. We fear the troubles of Father King, like the troubles of some other prolific fathers, will not all be "little ones." The demands of the provinces upon Mr. Bennett were not little ones, and the expectations of the provinces from Mr. King are fairly sure to be big ones.

But, as has been pointed out, there are two sides to the picture. Most of the people of Canada, whether inclined to be critical or to be friendly to the Government, admit that there is some strong material in the cabinet, and that we may all have reason to be thankful before the advent of another Thanksgiving Day. Although competent business authorities declare that governments have nothing to do with trade and commerce, that the less governments interfere with business the better for the country, there is no doubt that the actions of governments may affect the flow of the tides of trade, and that uncertainty as to the composition and policies of governments creates uneasiness in the minds even of the keenest business men. A New Policy

Premier King proposes to create a number of under secretaries of the various departments of government on earth while you learn basic. The idea seems to be an excellent one and should work very well if the under secretaries will be allowed to retain their posts when a government moves out of office. If not, it simply means an extension of political privileges in which the under secretaries will become a part of a political machine—with five years of confidential knowledge in the oil can.—R.A.G.

Panning Referees Poor Sport

One section of the crowd, that portion directly opposite the grandstand where the centre-fielder wanders in the Summer time, seemed mightily perturbed over the decisions of referee T. M. Robb during the Inter-City Football League match on Thanksgiving Day, between Victoria and North Shore. They were repeatedly shouting at him, especially when he called up a local player for fouling, or hands, but when the visitors were checked, not a word came from them. Let some of these "know-it-all" side liners get out on the field with a whistle and see what a fine job they would make of it. Ten chances to one they would be run out of the park by both teams before the finish. True, there were quite a number of fouls called by the referee, and some which slipped him, but he cannot be all over the field at once. Robb made decisions with hesitation, signalled what they were, and was impartial. All bolts down to the old saying, "there isn't a referee in the world who can satisfy a crowd."—J.D.

Things We Read About

We read in a recent news story that Chinese newspapers have been forbidden to publish news of articles unfavorable to Italy. This fact alone contained a paragraph stating that General Chiang Kai-shek had been presented with an expensive tri-motor airplane by Mussolini. "Why is your face so red, dear," a Heilene Street woman asked her little son Oscar. "We were playing a game at recess to see who could pull the ugliest face and all the boys came and pulled mine." Oscar chirped and pulled mine. "Oscar chirped and pulled mine." "Why is your face so red, dear," a Heilene Street woman asked her little son Oscar. Grandstand Wanted

When the city council erected a grandstand at the Royal Athletic Park they found it was money well spent. The revenues have more than repaid the city for the cost. The same will apply to Macdonald Park to an even greater degree, since that park has the best playing fields west of Winnipeg. Construction of a grandstand would make it one of the best in the country. It is hoped that when the council considers the projects on which to spend the $100,000 of relief money it will not leave out the grandstand, which will bring money to the city's coffers rather than take it away.—F.C.R.

He Got Thanked Anyway

Here is a story supposed to have taken place in the country. It appears that a young man went for a long hike, carrying with him an overcoat. After walking a few miles it occurred to him that his coat was too heavy to carry any longer, so he laid it down on a tree stump. As an added precaution the hiker pinned on a note that read: "No touching, smallpox." Returning to pick up the coat two hours later he found his coat gone and in its place was a note which read: "Thanks for the coat, I've already had smallpox."—S.K.M.

VAUDEVILLE TROUPE

Sir, I went to see the Whiz Bang Vaudeville Troupe on October 11 at the Empire Theatre, and was certainly thrilled with the performance. I think that Victoria should be proud of such excellent talent, and I feel that the people of Victoria should show by a crowded house that they appreciate it very much. Performers were brought back two or three times, and some of them were still encores back, so I don't know of any better recommendation for more vaudeville performances than that it sure was a scream and proved to me that it is just what the people are calling for.

BEER AND WINE

Sir,—According to recent news items a petition has been presented to the Government asking that the privilege of selling wine and beer to patrons be given to the proprietors of hotels and cafes, and urging as a reason that it would serve as an additional attraction to visitors and tourists and benefit business all round. May I be permitted to add my protest to those already registered against the granting of the privileges asked for, as I am convinced that the object to be achieved should not for many years at least be prohibition, but the national control of the manufacture of intoxicating drink, thus eliminating the natural desire of the private manufacturer for more business and more profit.

Are not temperance advocates—whether prohibitionists or otherwise—at present open to the criticism that vital activity on this point is being made to increase the facilities for public "drinking"? Spasmodic effort no matter how sensational and spectacular, will never accomplish anything worth while; what is needed is something resembling the faithful, persistent, unostentatious, apocryphal work of that noble body of men and women known as Sunday-school teachers if the ultimate result so dear to the heart of every well-wisher of his fellows is to be achieved.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

THINKING OUT THE PLAY

The time for thinking about the lock on the stable door is while the horse is still safe inside. It is much easier to keep him with a little forethought than to try to bring him back with a great deal of afterthought. Declarer's precious contract in a bridge game is a horse of identical color, and should be safeguarded with similar precautions. The absolute rule to play the hand mentally before actually winning a single trick is what makes experts. Planning the play should begin at declarer's first opportunity to win a trick, sometimes before. Usually, while the opponents are winning tricks which cannot be contested, he must let them do as they choose, perhaps throwing a little judiciously administered dust in their eyes by false-carding. Principally, declarer should pay careful attention to minor suits, and if the doubtless is not weaker than K or A, play when his own chance comes he should chart the course of the entire play before he wins or loses the crucial first opportunity trick.

You have heard the fable that a real bridge player can tell every card in both his opponents' hands as soon as the opening lead is made and the dummy is exposed. This is an exaggeration, of course, but it is true that a good player first tries to picture his opponents' distribution and the location of their high cards, and then his first idea is correct. Sometimes the mental picture can go no farther than deciding how the cards must be placed if the contract is to be made. The

Tonnage of World Vessels Continues To Decrease Fast

Total Measurement Down 690,646 Tons in Past Year—Only Three Countries Show Gains, Russia, Greece and China

Great Britain, Ireland, France, the United States and Panama, in the order named, showed the largest decreases in tonnage during the last year, according to Lloyd's Register of Shipping. The nations as a whole own 64,885,972 tons, a decrease during the year of 690,646 tons from the total of 65,576,618 tons reported in June, 1934.

The only nations showing notable increases during the year were Greece, Soviet Russia and China.

Difficultly encountered by Lloyd's in getting exact information about the Russian situation renders the total published unreliable, but Lloyd's estimates the increase in Russian tonnage at 171,522. Greece gained 203,905, and China 56,546 tons, respectively.

LARGEST DECREASES

The largest decreases were as follows: Great Britain and Ireland 34,563 tons; France, 272,917; United States, 192,787; and Panama, 134,521. All nations with the exception of Great Britain and Germany ended the fiscal year in stronger positions than in 1914, Lloyd report shows.

The United States with an increase of 378.9 per cent for sea tonnage and 9.7 for lake, during the twenty-one-year period, tops all nations. The British loss is 8.4 per cent and that of Germany 28.1 per cent.

The American fleet of Great Britain and Ireland, the largest of all nations, now totals 17,298,000 tons, a reduction of 1,594,000 tons from the total of 1914 and 2,007,000 tons from that reported ten years ago. The British Dominions have 2,986,000 tons, an increase of 83 per cent from the pre-war total. The United States now ranks second in the British fleet, followed in order by Japan, with 4,086,000 tons; Norway, 3,967,000; Germany, 3,493,000; France, 2,989,000; Italy, 2,838,000; Holland, 2,554,000; Sweden, 1,541,000; Spain, 1,164,000; Denmark, 1,089,000; and Greece, 1,171,000.

The American merchant marine fleet totals 12,145,000 tons, of which 9,665,000 tons are classified for sea service and 2,480,000 tons for other services. At the outbreak of the World War, the United States had only 4,278,000 tons, divided into 2,627,000 for sea and 1,651,000 for lake service. The World War caused the United States to become a ship-building nation and by 1925 the merchant fleet had risen to 14,200,000 tons, of which 11,932,000 tons were for sea service. The fleet has been decreased by 2,057 tons in sea service and has gained 203,000 tons in the lake service during the past ten years.

AIR SERVICE IS PLANNED

Catapult Planes May Be Used in Attempt to Make Link Around World

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—Albert Plesman, managing director of the Royal Dutch Air Lines, disclosed tonight that his company will link with the projected Pan-American Pacific service at Manila, to fly a 1,600-mile route to Java.

On the eve of his sailing for Amsterdam, after a month's tour of the United States, during which he purchased new equipment for his line, Plesman said the first experimental flying on the Northern Atlantic route will be attempted probably next summer, by a German line with catapult planes.

The planes will be catapulted from a ship in mid-ocean to hurry mail across the sea.

When trans-Atlantic flying is established, Plesman said he believes flights will be in the sub-stratosphere, with cabins super-charged to give the effect of flying at a 10,000-foot level.

Sikorsky boats will be used on the Manila-Java hop, only about 300 miles of which will be over open water. The rest is along the coast of oceanic islands, with one stop at Sandakan, British North Borneo; another in Borneo, and the terminus at Soerabaya, Java.

NO DOCK PASS FOR ORGANIZER

Crews of Three Freighters Protest and Maintain Picket Lines

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25 (AP)—Waterfront labor conflict here today after the Italian vessel Cellina, involved in a previous dispute, sailed for San Pedro.

Crews of the three freighters, Nevada, Nebraska and Oregon, maintained picket lines in protest against the steamship company's refusal to renew the dock pass of a union organizer.

The controversy was being considered by the Seamen's Labor Relations Committee, composed of three representatives of employers and three from the International Seamen's Union.

In a letter to the seamen's union, the steamship company threatened to hire non-union crews for the ships unless a settlement is reached soon.

VANCOUVER SHIPPING

VANCOUVER, Oct. 25 (AP)—M. Nounes, formerly the Juliette, one of the first motorships built for deep-sea service, a vessel of Panamanian registry and full Danish completion, has arrived at the British Columbia Shipping Agency, Ltd., to load full for Australia. En route here, she stopped at a coral reef in the South Seas, near Fiji, and hauled the freighter Hoegh Trader off the shallow where she had grounded. The Hoegh Trader grounded to Australia. Captain J. Mathieson, formerly master of M. Nounes when that ship was M. Chidley, joined the Nounes at San Francisco as master, his predecessor having left the vessel there for vacation.

The B.C. Shipping Co. reported St. King John in port to load for Australia and the South Seas. The ship is on drydock at the Burrard plant for scraping and painting.

The Greek freighter Maria is due here in November to load for Europe.

Mr. Hauraki sailed today for San Francisco to complete loading for Australian and New Zealand ports. She loaded 5,000 tons of paper, lumber and general cargo at British Columbia ports.

As an extra refrigerator ship, Blue Star Line agents, the American Mail Line, reported the turbine S. Cananea, of the Furness-Houlder, due in November under charter.

The tremendous movement of British Columbia apples through the port of New Westminster this season is indicated by the fact that during this week and next week 250,000 boxes, over 400 carloads, will have been shipped for European markets. In the past week, 147,420 cases were loaded for export.

Expedition Heads Southward

Lincoln Ellsworth (top), and Sir Hubert Wilkins (inset), have sailed from Montevideo, Uruguay, in the little Norwegian whaling ship Wyllat Eap for the Antarctic. Accompanied by two Canadian scientists, Ellsworth hopes to span Antarctica by air prior to January 1 in the low-winged monoplane, Polar Star (top left). It will be the explorer's third attempt to span this vast frozen region by air. Objective of the flight across 2,800 miles of Antarctic snow and ice is to determine whether Antarctica is one immense continent or two.

Sudden Passing of James Petticrew Shocks Wide Circle of Friends

The many friends of James Petticrew in Victoria and other ports along the coast of British Columbia will be shocked to learn of his sudden passing here on Thursday evening at the family residence, 2317 Quadra Street, after the briefest of illnesses. The deceased had attended a football match during the afternoon and was in his usual good spirits on his return home.

The late Mr. Petticrew was born in Kilmarnock, Scotland, on December 26, 1863, which made him nearly seventy-two years of age. He arrived in Canada as a young man, and was with the Union Company before entering the employ of the Canadian Pacific Navigation Company here in 1881. He served two years as second engineer on the St. Dunbar, and became third engineer aboard the St. Chamer in July, 1895.

In 1899, Mr. Petticrew became chief engineer of the St. Queen City. Among other ships of the Canadian Pacific Navigation Company which he served aboard were the Otter, City of Nanaimo, R. P. Rithel, Tees, Princess Louise and Amur. He retired on November 1, 1930, having reached superannuation age some time previously.

OTHER DUTIES

Other duties which he carried out successfully had to do with the building of the St. Princess Alice. Mr. Petticrew was sent to Scotland in 1911 by the Canadian Pacific to fill the position of supervising engineer. He stood by the vessel during construction and installation of machinery, and brought her out to Victoria. He served on many of the larger "Princesses" since that time, his latest duty being in the engine-room of the present St. Princess Louise.

Surviving the deceased engineer, who was a life-time member of a Scottish Masonic lodge, are three brothers, William C. Robert and Hugh Petticrew. The remains are resting at the Thomson Funeral Home, where the funeral will take place Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be in the Colwood Burial Park. Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson will officiate.

WORLD CRUISE

The retired Canadian Pacific captain buzzed with plans for a round-the-world cruise which he expects to undertake in a few months' time, possibly accompanied by Mrs. Green and their daughter, as well as by Philip, who won his seagoing spurs during the arduous crossing.

Meanwhile, the sturdy little romance, square-rigged on foremast, schooner-rigged on rear-mast, continues to baffle the water-wise who are still arguing as to whether she is a topsail schooner or a brigantine.

For the present, however, the Romance is in need of overhaul, a good coat of varnish on her leak upper works and a few adjustments and replacements in gear.

Two deep-sea ships are due here on Monday next. A. E. Shanks, of Rithel Consolidated, is expecting the Donaldson freighter Moveria, inbound from the United Kingdom by way of Panama, California and Washington ports, and the Blue Funnel Ss. Tantalus, coming from Puna and Japan ports. Both ships will dock at Rithel Piers.

Longshore Leader Is Speaking Here Tomorrow Evening

Ivan Emery, president of the Longshore and Water Transport Workers of Canada, and union official who appeared at the Federal inquiry at Vancouver on behalf of the locked-out longshoremen there, will appear for the first time in Victoria before a public audience at the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow, at 8 p.m. He will speak in defence of the locked-out longshoremen and seamen of British Columbia ports.

Mr. Emery is at present out on $5,000 bail.

Mr. Emery will be accompanied by Matt Shaw, one of the relief camp trekkers, who has been charged under Section 98 and who is now out on $7,000 bail. His subject will be "The Regina Riots."

ROMANCE NOW AT VANCOUVER

Little Vessel Object of Great Interest at Mainland Port

VANCOUVER, Oct. 25.—Captain P. Green's fifty-foot yacht, Romance, lay at C.P.R. wharf here today while thousands clamored for a glimpse of the tiny auxiliary sailing ship in which Captain Green, retired commander of the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia, his twenty-year-old son, Philip, and red-bearded John Hunter, Victoria, B.C., sailor, recently completed a daring crossing of the North Pacific from Hongkong.

While Captain Green, still feeling the effects of the ninety-two-day ordeal, went home to catch up on sleep, plans were going forward to throw the interesting and unusual little craft open to inspection by as many as possible. When the Romance reached Vancouver harbor yesterday after an uneventful trip up from Victoria, the shoreline swarmed with a holiday throng who turned out early for a look at her and her intrepid crew, augmented by Mrs. Green and nineteen-year-old Marguerite Green, who chaperoned the craft the Romance.

For Quick Cough Relief, Mix This Remedy at Home

No Cooking! No Work! Real Saving!

You'll never know how quickly a bad winter cough can be relieved, until you try this well known recipe. It is universally used throughout Canada because it gives such gratifying results. It's no trouble at all to mix, and costs but a trifle.
Into a 10 ounce bottle, pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex; then add granulated sugar syrup to make 10 ounces. Syrup is easily made with 2 cups of sugar and 1 cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. This gives you four times as much cough medicine for your money. It never spoils and tastes fine.
Quickly, you feel its penetrating effect. It loosens the phlegm, helps to clear the air passages, and soothes the irritated membranes. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief in distressing coughs.
Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine in concentrated form, well known for its soothing effect on throat membranes. Money refunded if it does not please you in grey way.

TEACHERS IN CONVENTION

Members of Island Institute and Comox Association At Nanaimo

NANAIMO, Oct. 25.—The annual convention of the Central Vancouver Island Teachers' Institute and the Comox District Teachers' Association opened here Thursday, and concludes today.
Thursday night's meeting was held under the joint auspices of the convention and the University Extension lecture committee. Prof. H. F. Angus, of the Department of Economics, was heard in the first of a series of lectures to be heard here within the next ten weeks, and took for his subject "Do We Live in the Age of Potential Plenty?" Questions arising from the talk will be answered by the speaker at subsequent lectures.

LOWER FEE FOR GYM IS SOUGHT

Basketball League Loses Money Owing to High Rentals for Floor

Representatives of the Victoria and District Basketball Association will wait upon the city school board shortly with a view to securing a reduction in the fees charged for the use of the Victoria High School gymnasium, which was learned at the City Hall yesterday.
At present the school board charges $5 a night for practices; $10 a night for league games and $20 a night for exhibition fixtures. So far the association has lost $750 this season on account of the high rentals, and it is contended the board should permit the use of the gymnasium at a nominal fee, inasmuch as the league encourages sports activities throughout the city.

Three Dead and Others May Die Following Fire

WILNO, Poland, Oct. 25 (A.P.)—A candle jostled into a pile of flax started a fire today which burned three women flax cleaners to death and injured ten others so seriously that they are not expected to live.
The sight of the blaze threw the women workers into a panic and none of them opened the door of the building to flee. The building was destroyed.

TRAFFIC LIGHT IS ADVOCATED

Chief of Police Recommends To Council That New Signal Be Installed

Installation of a traffic signal light at the intersection of Blanshard and Yates Streets is recommended by Chief of Police Thomas Heatley in a letter to the City Council.
Chief Heatley points out that there is sufficient money left from the appropriation made for the original traffic light installations to do the work at the intersection of Blanshard and Yates Streets.
He calls the attention of the council to the fact that this is a busy intersection due to it being a theatre district. The library is there, while the gates farther down the street also contribute to the heavy volume of traffic, in addition to the fact that Yates Street is an artery to Oak Bay and the Willows.

In order to determine what regulations were necessary, the committee was appointed to study the problem and report back at a public meeting to be announced later.
The committee comprised the following: Counsellor A. G. Lambrick, G. W. Carr, R. W. McClung, W. Tucker, Col. S. L. McMullen, W. Patterson and L. G. Scott.

IS PROUD OF CHURCH WORK

Rev. Dr. McKerrill, Moderator, Says Need to Commune With God

"Considering all the difficulties and obstacles on every hand during the last ten years, I am absolutely proud of what the Presbyterian Church has done in Canada and throughout the world," replied Rev. D. T. L. McKerrill, D.D., Toronto, Moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, when questioned at the Strathcona Hotel yesterday regarding the church's progress during the last decade.
This world and age have a great need, in the opinion of Dr. McKerrill, and that is, more communion with God.
The Moderator declared that the Almighty had been left out of the world was finding itself in one chaotic state after another.
GOD AS GUIDE
"There must be a universal recognition of the Divine as the sovereign guide of all human affairs," he continued. "We need today what the Bible makes amply plain—prayer, faith, worship, service and sacrifice." In this connection, Dr. McKerrill explained the Presbyterian Church throughout the world was steadily marching forward with a wide programme.
Referring to the work of ministers, he said: "A minister has the greatest calling on earth, and if he fulfills his mission he has no time for anything else."

ATTRACTS ATTENTION

Dr. McKerrill, head of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, the minister of the Victoria Presbyterian Church in Toronto, with a congregation of 1,400.
A man of large stature, white hair and piercing friendly eyes, the Moderator instantly attracts attention in a gathering. He has a kind, friendly nature, but comes of the old Scottish Covenanter stock who fought and died for their religious beliefs. Filled with enthusiasm over his work, Dr. McKerrill firmly believes the Bible holds the solution to the world problems for all time.

Premier Pattullo Says No Decision Reached Yet on Wines and Beer

No decision has yet been reached in the matter of the Victoria beer and wine petition. Premier Pattullo announced yesterday after the last Cabinet meeting of the week. Routine issue had been dealt with, the Premier said.
Meanwhile, the management of the Royal Winter Fair, Toronto, has invited Premier Pattullo, with the Premiers of all other provinces, to attend a gala opening of that exhibition, with a banquet on November 20. If in the East at that time, he would attend, the Premier intimated.
Current Provincial orders changed the date of the Nanaimo criminal assizes from October 30 to December 2; named five more election commissioners in Vancouver-Burrard riding, and ratified routine orders in council from the Tuesday assembly of the executive.

Gladys Glad On Beauty

Back in the seventeenth century in New England, the blue-nosed Puritans considered it decidedly immoral for any woman to voice a desire for physical beauty. In those days, any girl who attempted to increase her charms in any way was thought to be an unwholesome character. And consequently, the women of that era seldom made any attempts at self-improvement. Today, of course, we moderns know there is nothing unwholesome about a woman who desires beauty. Most women of this age do make an effort to enhance their charms. But some acquire foolish ideas that are more of a hindrance than a help, and one of the most common of these is the idea that frequent shampoos are harmful to the hair.

Frequent shampoos are in no way harmful to the health of the hair—provided, of course, that they are properly administered. For, besides removing dirt and grime from the hair, shampoos also prove an invigoration to the scalp. The necessary rubbing gives the scalp the massage that is so essential to its well-being, and it stimulates the circulation in the scalp, thus promoting hair growth.

SHAMPOO CORRECTLY

However, as I said before, to be beneficial rather than harmful, shampooing must be done properly. I've found that the most effective method of attaining a perfectly clean scalp and soft, glossy hair is first to wet the hair with warm water, then pour onto the scalp sufficient liquid

Jane Dixon Says:

WHEN YOU PLAY THE GAME, PLAY IT ON THE LEVEL, BECAUSE IT IS THE ONLY WAY YOU'LL EVER WIN A LASTING VICTORY

Another Round-Up.

Don't know the number, but what matter? Suppose we make this Round-Up Number 16. And go on from here.

L. R. D.—Please do not persist in pursuing a man who has no interest in you. You are not in love with the man. You are in love with love.

Don't worry about letting the second boy down. He was in luck. You were using him, for your own convenience. The fairest thing you could do was to make him understand you do not know your own mind or your own heart. You say, "Now I'm sorry I dropped No. 2, because I thought that by dropping him I'd get No. 1 back." Well, my dear, if you get away with that sort of selfishness let me know about it. Your plan has been tried by experts. None has had more than a very temporary success. And those who have had this slight gain have paid for it so bitterly that they willingly would trade their cleverness for a speck of honesty. You've lost both boys. Fair enough. The next time you play the game, play it on the level. It is the only way you'll ever win a lasting victory.

R. R. M.—Thanks for your kind thought sent to Mrs. H. H. This column is pledged not to divulge names and addresses. If you will send your message, it will be forwarded.

AN ARISTOCRAT IN LOVE

N. S.—Please let the boy try to find his way through. His parents have moved away. He is very young. So are you. He's working. Work will not impair his affection for you unless you interfere with what he is striving, as a working man, to accomplish. He will resume his courtship of you, when time permits if he truly cares for you.

H. K. D.—You're a young aristocrat in love with a poor boy who has no finesse of manner. Your family do not approve of him. He refuses your invitations and doesn't want to go places with you even when you are alone except for your chauffeur. You regard him as a real gentleman.

You are right, except for the finesse of manner. It seems to me that your poor boy is fond of and to spare. He's standing by his guns. Why don't you stand by yours?

You and your parents can take a lesson in behaviorism from a young man who, despite his heart interest, can resist the lure of social invitations and the comfort of being chauffeured.

Please respect his pride and his fortitude, and do not stepping at all. Let him take the steps—if any.

Lonesome Twenty-Three—You say you are a poor boy and lack education. Henry Ford was a poor boy. Abraham Lincoln was poor and self-taught.

If the girl loved you enough she would realize that these handicaps can be overcome. She would encourage and help you to overcome them. Since the girl and her family treat you as an inferior, and you yourself feel you are not up to their standard, accept the girl's decision to go with other friends and you go forth and do likewise. Above all, concentrate on improving your education. Consult any teacher in your district, and he or she will advise you how to go about such study. If you must take your loss this time, set to work to insure yourself against a second loss when love comes your way again.

I'm afraid you'd find a two-year wait pretty lonely and unprofitable business.

TWO CHOIRS IN JOINT RECITAL

Schubert Club and Meistersingers Give Concert at First United Church

Drawn together by the common bond of possessing the same conductor, Frederic King, the Schubert Club, composed entirely of women's voices, and the Meistersingers, one of the city's youngest male voice choirs, united last night to give a joint choral recital at the First United Church. Both choirs sang well, singly and in combination. The advantage of the latter combination was especially conspicuous in the last number, Sir Hubert Parry's "Blest Pair of Sirens," a fine work structurally, with a cumulative beauty which appropriately reached its highest expression in the majestic closing lines, where a great crescendo of harmony gave a glorious climax.

The other full ensemble presentations were the "Prayer" music from Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana," and the rich diapason of the "Die Meistersinger" music by Wagner, as heard in "When to Thee Our Saviour Went." Dedicated to the memory of the late Alfred Gurney, this last was sung with good breadth of phrasing and real dignity, the singers showing to unusual good advantage against the rich body of tone supplied by the basses and women's voices, the organ and piano.

SCHUBERT CLUB

The ladies' choir gave as their first number Beethoven's "O God, Thy Goodness Reacheth Far," which they immediately followed by one of the strong favorites of the programme, Schubert's "Ave Maria." Elsa Ridgeway, who took the soprano solo part in this, has an appealingly sweet soprano voice, and Mr. King manipulated the choir to show the solo part to the best possible advantage, both to the voice and to the effect of the work as a whole. Another number showing much taste and sensitive feeling was Bruno Huhn's "The Message." The tendency of the choir to drop pitch in the higher registers of "The Wind-Swept Wheat" (David Stanley Smith) rather weakened the effect of this otherwise pleasing number. Florence Noel, who carried the solo part, has a voice of fresh and youthful mezzo quality.

THE MEISTERSINGERS

The Meistersingers possess a good body of tenor tone, gave a delightful interpretation of Schubert's melodious "By the Sea," Hegar's "The King and the Bard," the ever-popular "In a Monastery Garden" (Keteley), which, with Pierre Timp, a dramatic tenor with a fine intuitive gift of song, as soloist, had to be repeated in response to much applause; the introspective "Ships That Pass in the Night," in which a little roughness of tone crept in, and "The Dawn" (Hammond), sung with beautiful restraint and sincerity.

In all these, Mr. King showed discriminating gifts as conductor, as Mrs. Pierre Timp showed grace and sympathy at the piano, and Jack Smith sound musicianship at the organ. Mr. Smith provided the

Holiday Will Mark Royal Wedding Day

LONDON, Oct. 25 (P.)—Contrary to previous reports, military uniforms and court dress will be required for the wedding of the Duke of Gloucester and Lady Alice Montague-Douglas-Scott. It was officially announced today. The ceremony is to take place November 6 in the chapel of Buckingham Palace.

It was announced earlier all elaborate ceremonies would be dispensed with, because of the mourning for the recent death of the father of the bride-to-be, the Duke of Buccleuch. The Duke of Gloucester, fourth son of the King, will wear the uniform of Captain of the 10th Royal Hussars.

Lady Alice will go from her residence on Grosvenor Place to Buckingham Palace in a glass-covered coach drawn by four bays. After the ceremony the royal couple will proceed to St. Pancras Station in an open, four-horse coach. If time permits, they will be escorted by a detachment of cavalry.

It was announced originally all school children would be given a holiday to attend the ceremony, but the subsequent mourning arrangements called for a quiet ceremony. The King has insisted, however, it was learned today, that all school children throughout the country should get their holiday.

FEATHER IN HER HAT

CHAPTER XVIII
Ann sat in the lobby of the hotel in Boston and tried to persuade herself that after the events of the last two months, life could produce neither surprise nor complexity that she could not face with comparative calm. The worst, she reflected, was behind.

Their night and day in Boston had had a quieting effect on her nerves. In fact their entire journey from Washington has been so completely satisfactory that she was a little ashamed of the uneasiness she had entertained when she was leaving Mollie's apartment.

Mollie, always the martyr, had taken it on herself in the beginning to relieve Ann and Rita of any fears concerning Deane. Without consulting anyone, she announced that she and Deane would ride in the rumble of Selma's car, and that Carl would sit with Selma. That left Rita and Ann to crowd into the seat with Bill, their several pieces of luggage being packed into the rumble of Bill's car.

In New York the hotel arrangements had been substantially as they were here in Boston. Mollie and Selma occupying one of two adjoining rooms and Rita and Ann the other. The three men had all separate rooms on another floor.

Thus any possibility of friction between Selma and Rita—apparently unlikely in view of Selma's changed attitude toward Rita—had been removed, and Ann had barely seen Deane Runbrecker since leaving Washington.

Watching the constant flow of well-dressed men and women through the hotel lobby Ann thought of these things and was more grateful to Mollie than Mollie would ever know. She had not forgotten the night she surprised Mollie and Bill in the apartment kitchen, but she had grown so fond of Mollie that she knew now that nothing could ever seriously impair their friendship.

But for a greater service than Mollie had performed, Ann was indebted to a mechanical accident. Over every mile of their long ride she had dreaded the moment of her meeting with Lee. He would be waiting, of course. Mollie would have arranged that. And fatigued as she most certainly would be, she would have no choice but to face him and try to justify her abrupt decision to break off their engagement. Given a night's rest and an opportunity to organize her thoughts and feelings, she would be better able to cope with him.

Lee, however, had not been waiting when they reached the hotel last night and it was not until this morning that they learned he had been forced down near some isolated village because of motor trouble. His wife to Mollie explained he required a new part to repair his engine and owing to the difficulty of getting it, he probably would not reach Boston before four or five o'clock.

All day Mollie had been in a fever of anxiety and when at quarter of seven she called the airport and was informed that Lee had not yet arrived, she suddenly burst into tears. . . . And it was then that Ann, giving her lips a last touch of vivid color, caught up her coat and hat and, with a signal to Rita, slipped into the room. Unable to share Mollie's premature disappointment—if she could have been so selfish, she would have considered it extraordinarily good fortune if Lee had not arrived at all—she had come to this deep chair in the lobby and let her thoughts come and go as they would.

"Ann. . . ."

Ann, seated on the mezzanine, obeyed the seemingly endless procession of lovely women in evening gowns and immaculately attired men, she had not seen Lee come through the side entrance and was so startled by the sound of his voice that for a moment she could only stare, dumbly, without even the semblance of a smile on her lips.

"Good, it's good to see you," Lee said earnestly. He took her hands from her lap and pulled her to her feet. "For a moment Ann thought that he would kiss her there in view of the hundred pairs of eyes that he had already identified him; but he only laughed when he saw the uneasiness in her face and stood back to look at her appreciatively. "You're gorgeous, Ann. I've never seen you really dressed up before, have I? . . . Where's the gang?"

Ann had recovered from her confusion now. "They're up in their several rooms waiting for the floor-worried sick for fear you won't be on hand for your lecture. Are you stopping here?"

He was digging in his pockets. "If you call it stopping," he said, "I'm taking off for Washington immediately after the powwow." At last his eager search had been rewarded. "Give these tickets to Mollie, will you? I had to wire for them at the last minute and the man who handed them to me at the airport said he had the devil's own time rounding them up. They're reserved seats, of course, but as far as I can make out, no two are together. You may be able to swap with some one when you get there."

Looking at his dark grey suit, Ann asked, irrelevantly, "didn't you bring any luggage, Lee?"

He grinned. "Afraid I'll do my act in these legs? . . . I'd do a better job of it, I'll bet. . . . My bags came in when I did. They're in my room, I hope." He looked down at his watch and Ann's eyes automatically lifted to the shadow clock on the opposite wall. It was now twenty-eight minutes after seven.

She groaned. "Three-quarters of an hour to dress, have dinner and get to the hall. You'll never do it."

"Easily," Lee smiled. "But listen, Ann. I'll need a few minutes to brush up on my notes and I may not get a chance to have a private word with the others. Mollie had it all planned that you and I would fly back to Washington. Did she tell you?"

"Yes," Ann said, quietly. "And I saw your wife saying you had some sort of important cargo to carry instead."

Lee nodded. "That's the point," he said. "Mollie will think I've gone mysterious or something. As a matter of fact, it's all a lot of foolishness, to my way of thinking. Congress opens next month and there's to be some sort of investigation into the munitions industry. My job is to transport two two-hundred-pound boxes of very, very secret documents." He grinned at the ominous sound of this. "They'll take up all the room in my boat and more, I'm afraid. If the request hadn't come from a very important person who wanted a lot of words explaining what complete confidence he had in me, I'd have turned it down flat. Apparently they're afraid there'll be a leak somewhere—or maybe an attempt to steal the stuff. Anyway—"

"You want me to tell Mollie," Ann said, helpfully.

Lee was looking at his watch again. That's right. And ask her to keep it under her hat. Better not say anything to the others."

"Don't worry."

Lee's head came up and their eyes met. Only Ann seemed to be aware of the many curious eyes fastened upon them.

"I'm damned sorry Mollie's plan couldn't go through," Lee said then. "You'll be starting back in the morning?"

"Yes, early I hope. And back on the job Thursday. It has been a very pleasant trip so far."

"That's good." He studied the face of his watch—not seeing it. "That was very nice of her," Ann said. "Hurry, you better be going."

"We'll have a long talk soon, I hope. Lots of long talks. As far as I'm concerned, we're just where we were, Ann."

"Lee," Ann said, earnestly, "you can't afford to waste any more time now. . . . We'll be rooting for you when you make your speech."

"Thanks. And I'll be thinking of you through every sentence. Don't forget to tell Mollie."

"I won't. Hurry now, won't you?"

"You're awfully sweet, Ann."

"Lee—please!"

Smiling, Lee bowed. It was a gesture for those who looked on. A moment later he was pushing his way through a noisy crowd of autograph seekers, trying to reach the open door of the elevator the starter had been holding for him since he entered the lobby.

A minute later the same elevator brought Mollie and Rita down. Mollie's face glowed.

"Ann—he's here. I just talked with the airport. . . . What are you grinning at, silly?"

"Nothing," said Ann. "Where's Selma?"

"She stopped by Deane's room to give him a piece of her mind. Our three men not only leave us to have dinner by ourselves, but they almost forgot why we came up here. They didn't come in until fifteen or twenty minutes ago. Selma's raving."

Rita said, suspiciously, "You look like the cat that ate the canary, Ann. What's the secret?"

Ann laughed. "Lee was here a minute ago. He wanted me to give you these, Mollie."

Mollie took the tickets, but she continued to search Ann's eyes for something more important than the tickets at the moment than tickets. "Did you call it stopping?"

you have a chance to talk—you and Lee?"

"Oh, we said hello, and all that sort of thing. He asked me to deliver a very confidential message, but we will have to wait—he comes the army."

Selma came across the lobby flanked by Bill and Carl. Deane stalked along behind, picking at his black tie. Obviously Selma had rushed him out of his room.

"All right," Bill said, "let's get going." He did not look at Ann. To the best of Ann's knowledge, he had not looked directly at her since leaving Washington. In the car their conversation had been of the polite yes-and-no variety; here they had not talked at all. But Ann was content to have it so for since the night she had called him a cry-baby he had been working steadily, feverishly, and his physical improvement was too evident to question. One couldn't, Ann thought, have everything.

According to Bill's watch, they entered the big hall at exactly twelve minutes after eight. At the moment the time was unimportant, for they knew Lee had not yet arrived. But before another twelve had passed, they were all to remember Bill's casual announcement as they came to a halt in the foyer and gazed through the glass doors at the patient but obviously expectant crowd inside.

"We didn't do so bad," Bill said; it's just twelve minutes after."

A New York merchant used to tell a story of the retort proper, of which he was the unwitting recipient.

He strictly forbade his employees from smoking in the building, much to the annoyance of the young men and women.

One day during lunch hour, while he was out taking one of his periodic strolls through the halls, he chanced to spy a bunch of young men, obviously in his employ, crowded around the entrance to the main office, and in the far from the young men, a half-smoked cigarette smouldering in defiance of regulations.

"Whose cigarette is that?" the merchant demanded, pointing at the source of his irritation.

"Yours," cried a voice from the crowd; "you saw it first."

In parts of China the guards on trains use bugles. In case of danger, of course, they simply blow the communication chord.

SHANTYMEN WILL MEET ON MONDAY

Ferry Wharf, Island Missionary, to Rev. P. J. Year's Work. Abroad Gospel Ship

The annual meeting of the Island Branch of the Shantymen's Christian Association is planned to be held at the Y.W.C.A. next Monday evening, commencing with a fellowship supper at 6:30 o'clock. As a large response has already been given to the prior request to make reservations early—for the supper, others wishing to attend are asked to telephone Q 7822 or the Y.W.C.A. without delay, to facilitate matters. All interested in the public meeting will commence. Ferry Wharf, the Island mission, will review the past year's work in an address which will include stories of the wanderings of Gospel Ship Messenger II and also the building of the Strangers' Rest at Port Alberni, which is today being dedicated, in conjunction with the Salvation Army, who, under the direction of Colonel Daniel, will carry it on. Other reports will also be given. The annual address will be delivered by Rev. John McTurk, of Chilliwack, formerly pastor of a Victoria congregation, and well known for his evangelical interest.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

CURING MIGRAINE—ONE-SIDED HEADACHE

I believe that most physicians, including myself, have the idea that the liver is in some way connected with migraine, or one-sided headache. Dr. Etienne and Colleson, of Nancy, France, recently reported their observations as to the part played by the imperfect work of the liver in causing migraine. They report three types of migraine: (1) the usual severe one-sided headache occurring from time to time; (2) the cases in which the one-sided headache is present practically all the time, with a feeling, especially on awakening, of a confused mental state, nausea often without vomiting, fatigue, and inability to concentrate and to work; (3) the same as the second type, only periods when the headache becomes more severe. Forty-five persons were given treatment, the object of which was to stimulate the action of the liver, such as alkalies in small doses, especially sodium benzoate, magnesium salicylate, sodium citrate, and vegetable and other liver stimulants (to increase the flow of bile).

In seven of the forty-five cases the attacks disappeared completely after fifteen days of treatment. In twelve other cases the same result was obtained only after two months. In the remaining eighteen cases the attacks disappeared after a long interval. Eight cases are not included because they have not been followed for a sufficiently long time. In all, thirty-seven cases of the forty-five who were given only the above medicines to stimulate liver action was relieved completely their attacks. Now it is not my intention to suggest that sufferers from migraine should immediately start on a course of alkalies and bile-stimulant drugs. Treatment of this kind should be under a physician's supervision. My point, however, that a sluggish liver and gall bladder appear have something to do with causing migraine; then the liver and a bladder should be stimulated.

MAROONS TURN DOWN OFFER TO TRADE JOE LAMB

Manager Gorman Refuses to Send Star to New York

Boss of Stanley Cup Champions Balks at Offer of Amerks to Exchange Normie Himes and Cash for Lamb—Beveridge Cinches Place—Joliat Arrives in Camp

WINNIPEG, Oct. 25 (P)—An offer to exchange Normie Himes, of New York Americans, and an unstated amount of money in return for Joe Lamb was received by Manager Tommy Gorman, of the Montreal Maroons, today. The bid was turned down because Lamb was not for sale. Gorman said, Lamb recently acquired from St. Louis Eagles, started his professional career with Maroons many years ago. He has since had experience with five other National Hockey League clubs.

Goalie Bill Beveridge, a sensation at this year's training camp here, will perform in the Maroon next winter, Gorman said. Previously it had been reported that New York Rangers were angling for the dark-haired netminder. Other wires from Maroon players included one from George Boucher, former National Hockey League star, and now manager of Springfield Indians in the Canadian-American circuit. Boucher made bids for Bill Mackenzie and Sammy McManus. The offer is under consideration.

Maroons went through another scrimmage today. Gorman didn't show a sign of worry. He had reason to be happy because all his players' contracts were signed, sealed and delivered with only one exception. The exception was Herb Cain. Cain may be here early next week.

VETERAN ARRIVES
Joliat, left wing star and oldest forward in length of service in the National Hockey League, today was back at his post with Montreal Canadiens as the squad continued its whirlwind training pace under the watchful eye of Sylvio Mantha, newly-appointed manager. Aurel had been a holdout for a week. Joliat arrived during the morning. In the afternoon, Lois Costner, all steamed up to make good after having been dropped by Chicago Black Hawks, reached town from Winnipeg and will don a Canadian sweater tomorrow to be fitted into one of the frontlines as a right winger.

JOCKEY CLUB SEVERE WITH TRACKSTERS

Seven Ruled Off Course for Life Following Investigation of Charges

CHICAGO, Oct. 25 (P)—The Illinois Racing Commission today approved action of the Lincoln Fields Jockey Club in ruling J. D. Mikel, Carl Cook, Ill. horseman, off the track for life for allegedly having raced a three-year-old as a two-year-old.

Mikel was ruled off, August 15, when the stewards at Lincoln Fields claimed that My Bane, racing in a two-year-old event, actually was three years old. The commission voted to uphold the action of the stewards and ordered Mikel's license revoked.

The commission, winding up a day of sweeping action, ruled six others, connected with racing, off for life. Jockey Andy Anderson, charged with giving the horse Busy Spain an unsatisfactory ride at Sportman's Park, October 22, and for violating the rule prohibiting jockeys from wagering on horses other than their own mounts, was ruled off. William Paris suffered the same penalty in connection with the "sponging" of Exponent at Hawthorne, October 15.

Others whose licenses were permanently revoked were Trainer Lester Rice and Veterinarian Stortz, in connection with attempts to steal saliva test jars at Fairmount Park, C. A. Briggs, for possession of equipment which might have been used to "dope" horses at Fairmount; J. Baker, a former trainer, for "outing" at Fairmount.

Gorman have one more workout here before entraining for Calgary, Sunday night, where they play three exhibition games next week.

HAWKS APPEAR
CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 25 (P)—Chicago Black Hawks went on display for the first time tonight in an intra-squad exhibition hockey game at the University of Illinois ice rink. A crowd of 1,000 saw the "Blacks," led by the veteran line of Howie Morenz, Mush March and Johnny Gottselig, with some great assistance from sophomore Norm MacMillan, play the "Tans," 9-2.

The "Blacks" team gave Goalie Lorne Chabot a stiff workout. At the other net, Mike Karakas, with the second line of defence in front of him, distinguished himself. Looking scored two goals and had two assists. The Cook-Trudell-Locking line got five of the "Blacks" nine goals.

LEAFS IN THE
HAMILTON, Ont., Oct. 25 (P)—Conny Smythe's two hockey teams, Toronto Maple Leafs, of the National Hockey League, and Syracuse Stars, of the International Hockey League, played a furious 3-3 tie here tonight in the first full game of the season. Proceeds from the exhibition were to aid local charity.

The contest between the training camp mates, who have been practicing for more than a week at Kitchener, was an exciting rumpus from start to finish.

"How did you get on in your action for compensation against the man whose dog bit you?"

"His lawyer proved I bit the dog."

Why on earth did Esquimalt change their back line-up? Marsh is fearless and fast, but he has yet to learn that "can't" is the watchword for a fullback. Give Esquimalt another good back and they will have the best balanced side in the league.

I look to see a great all-round improvement in our local games once the inter-city league gets underway. The stimulus of outside competition, added to the valuable experience gained, has always had its effect on local soccer, and the result is seen both in the standard of play and in the swelling of the "gate."

One, or is it two? fans are so keen on inter-city games that he or she have put up for competition a gold medal to be awarded to the player who, at the end of the season, is adjudged to have been the most useful player on the United Team. Temporary flashes of brilliance will not count against consistently good play, and that is as it should be.

Who would have won that medal had it been awarded last season? I should be very loth to answer. Bell? DeCosta? Barnes? Payne? Stewart? Esler? All a matter of opinion. But I understand this competition is to be run scientifically. Points will be awarded on each game all through the season, and I can foresee one man winning by a very slim margin. The betting is now open.

The "diagonal system" of refereeing gives good promise of being successful enough to be recommended to our officials. When the play works up to, say, the east goal, one of the linesmen races up the line towards that end; the referee also follows the play, keeping on that side of the field away from his linesman. At the same time we see the other linesman running away from the play, towards the west goal. Now there are two officials right on the spot, and if and when the play changes swiftly to the other end of the field before the officials can get there, well, that's why the other

Lindrum Runs Off Neat Sum For New Mark

VANCOUVER, Oct. 25 (P)—Walter Lindrum, world's champion English billiard player, broke his 610 tonight with a run of 859 in a session with Clarke McConachy, New Zealand champion.

Linesman ran away from the game just now.

This suggests referees and linesmen teaming up for the season. Give each referee a couple of good neutral linesmen; let them get well acquainted, and we think that there would be always to our seemingly unsolvable problem of satisfaction in handling games. I leave the suggestion to our referees.

The local committee has carried their scheme for soccer in our schools a step further this season. Under their "protection" a new inter-high school league has been formed, and the schedule is now in operation with two teams from Victoria, and one each from Saanich and Esquimalt. The schools themselves have full control, the local committee acting a purely paternal role.

Wire netting? Showers? Let's give them a rest this week.

The North Shore game was a good one from a spectators' point of view. There were thrills galore and the result was always in doubt. It is quite evident that when the United have had more play together they will more than hold their own with the Vancouver and Nanaimo teams. One disturbing factor was the tremendous number of fouls called by the referee. Most of these were against the visitors, and at that a lot went by unnoticed. Does that indicate that the refereeing on the Mainland is not so strict as ours?

Barnes, Gibbons, Chalmers, Scotty Stewart, Esler, and Bell covered heavily checked, and often unfairly, but he managed to be a worthy to the defence. Miller promises to fill the centre position quite satisfactorily, his positioning is not perfect, but he knows where the backs did not like him to be.

Some of the others will have to improve on their form if they are to stack up against the other teams in the league. It took Victoria at least twenty minutes to get started, probably due to the fact that it was their first appearance as a team. The second half was all Victoria's except for breakaways.

Why does Barnes play with his hands? Why does Fred Gibbons play such a perfect game against outsiders, even when he may be off-color in his club games? Why do so many of our visiting teams give us little outbreaks of childish temper? Did we get two points when Royals kept away from us?

Ice Hockey Gains Ground in England As Schedule Opens

LONDON, Oct. 25 (P)—The greatest hockey season in England's history is getting under way with more Canadian players than ever before on hand and plans being advanced for new and bigger rinks throughout the country. England has seen enough good hockey to know it wants only the best—and that's what it will get this season.

An early-season match between Streatham and "The Rest" attracted a capacity crowd of 2,000 at the Streatham rink, and at Wembley more than 10,000 watched the Lions and Canadians in their first engagement.

Percy Nicklin, who piloted Moncton Hawks to Canadian senior championships in 1933 and 1934 and now is managing the Richmond Hawks in the English League, said he was so impressed with what he had already seen that he doubted whether Halifax Wolverines, Canada's 1936 Olympic team, could defeat all the best teams in England.

Standard of play has improved year by year, as more Canadians came here to play under the British Ice Hockey Association, but the 1935-36 season will give British fans the best ice entertainment they have ever had.

NEW ARENA
A rink is being built at Earls Court along the lines of Detroit Olympia, home of the Red Wings of the National Hockey League, said he will accommodate more than 8,000 spectators. Kensington Corinthians and Earls Court Rangers will play their home games there.

At Brighton, a "sports dome" is being built to seat 4,000 and to house the Brighton Tigers. Plans are well advanced for rinks in other parts of the country. London Speedway managers are particularly interested in the sport, which is filling what rinks that exist to capacity.

One of them, Fred Monkford, intends to build a new one in south-east London to seat 12,000. He is to visit Canada and the United States to study plans of the big National League arenas in Toronto, New York, Montreal, Detroit and Chicago.

A few years ago players from Canada without a good home reputation would have been—and were—lionized in England. Now it is different. They have got to be good to be invited to England. First-class referees are being brought with them to see that the game is played as it should be.

Among the first of the newcomers to make an appearance this fall were Joe Stinchcombe and the veteran Babe Donnelly from Sudbury, Ont., who gave a brilliant display for Streatham against "The Rest." Bobby Beaton, Lou Bates, Hymie McArthur and Amante were among the best on the other side.

POPULAR PLAYER
Bates, former Ottawa star, is one of the most popular players in England. An effective rusher, Bates is paying more attention to defensive work and play-making this season. Jimmy Haggerty, newcomer from Port Arthur, Ont., also made a big impression in this match.

The Lennox brothers from Winnipeg, Tony and Albert, made their debut at Streatham but were disappointing. The little Western speedsters apparently had not found their stride. Johnny Templeton, of Winnipeg, also failed to impress the critical.

UPLANDS BEAT COLWOOD CLUB
Captures Three-Point Victory in Women's Inter-Club Fixture

Marjorie Todd stopped the winning streak of Mrs. E. Jackson, city title holder, in the women's inter-club match staged between Uplands and Royal Colwood Club on the latter's battleground. The visiting side managed to come through to a close decision, winning out by a 9-6 to 6-6 score, after some interesting matches. Colwood was in front in the early stages, but Uplands started to record victory after victory to finish three points to the good.

In their last four arguments, Mrs. Jackson took the measure of the younger shotmaker three times, the feature defeat being in the city championship final, but yesterday Miss Todd went to work and managed to put a halt to victorious march of her Uplands opponent.

Stella Walsh Is Backing Move of J. T. Mahoney
NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (P)—Stella Walsh, Polish woman athletic star and 1932 Olympic sprint champion, has joined the movement in this country to boycott the 1936 Olympic games.

Referring to the charges of religious and racial discriminations in Germany made by Jeremiah T. Mahoney, president of the Amateur Athletic Union, Miss Walsh said: "I thought Judge Mahoney presented the facts accurately in his splendid letter the other day. I don't see how any one could disagree with what he said. I hate to see politics interfere with sport, and I hope discrimination against religion, race or creed will be avoided."

WILL LECTURE ON PRESENT CRISIS

H. L. Stirling to Outline Britain's Position at British-Israel Meeting Next Tuesday

The Victoria and District British-Israel Association, at its regular weekly meeting in the Foresters' Hall, Cormorant Street, next Tuesday, at 8 o'clock, will have as speaker Harry L. Stirling, who has recently returned from lecture tours at Cumberland and Up-Island points, and also from Seattle and Tacoma.

Mr. Stirling has a very interesting subject for his address, viz., "Scripture and Disarmament—Britain's Position in the Present Crisis." Speaking on this, he will show that God clearly lays down Israel's duty with respect to the Gentile nations. He will contend that Britain should not be misled by pacifist teaching, but endeavor to understand her duty to mankind.

ISRAEL'S HISTORY IS SERMON TOPIC

Rev. J. Hyde, of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Victoria West, will preach tomorrow morning on the subject, "The March of Events as Seen in Israel's History Today," based on Ezekiel, chapter 11, 6.

Thanksgiving Service

At First Spiritualist Church, Sons of England Hall, 1216 Broad Street, the Lyceum will be held Sunday at 11 o'clock. At 7:30 p.m. there will be a Harvest Thanksgiving service. The speaker will be Rev. Ada Duncey, of Duncan. The soloist will be Mrs. E. Panthorpe. There will be messages at the close of the service.

WILL STAY AT POSTS

A check of active Protestant missionaries in Ethiopia shows that practically all intend to stay at their posts. Many of these missionaries are doctors and nurses, who feel that their services are likely to be needed as never before.

A business man, who enjoyed spending "a night out with the boys" now and then, had a friend to stay with him for the week-end. When the guest was being shown up to his room, he noticed that there were faint crosses on several of the steps. He asked the reason. "Ah," whispered the host, "these come into operation after midnight. X means that the step cracks."

Church Events in the Coming Week

Quiet Day for local ministers, St. Michael's, Royal Oak, Tuesday, October 29, from 10 a.m.

Rt. Rev. Richard Roberts, D.D., Moderator of the United Church of Canada, November 3-5. Public meetings Monday and Tuesday evenings.

Rev. Geoffrey Allen, M.A., of Oxford, Friday, November 1: 2:30 p.m.; clergy. Memorial Hall, 8 p.m.; Oxford Group meeting, First Baptist Church.

Rev. Andrew Gih (Chih Wen), Chinese evangelist, will address Chinese and other audiences from Thursday, October 31, to Thursday, November 7.

PERCY WILLS TO OCCUPY PULPIT

Well-Known Mission Worker Will Preach Twice Tomorrow at the City Temple

A popular speaker, well-known locally, in the person of Percy Wills, will be the pulpiter at both services of the City Temple tomorrow. Mr. Wills has chosen "Thanksgiving" as his morning topic, and will preach on "Impending Events" in the evening.

The Temple choir will sing "O Lord, How manifold Are Thy Works," by J. Barnby, at the morning service, and "While the Earth Remains," by J. H. Maunders, and Stainer's "Ye Shall Dwell in the Land," with S. Clark singing the incidental bass solo, at the evening service.

On Monday, at 6:30 p.m., the Temple congregation will hold a thanksgiving dinner and sale of harvest goods.

Church Personals

Rev. James Gray, D.D., head of the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago, for forty years, died last month following a heart attack. He was eighty-four years of age and had visited this city. He succeeded Rev. R. A. Torrey, the first president of the Institute.

Having first lost his chair at Bonn University by the order of the Nazi Ministry of Education, Professor Karl Barth, held by many to be the foremost modern theologian, has been expelled from Germany, and has returned to his native land of Switzerland to become professor of theology at the University of Basel.
